

Warthill Juniors

Christmas Boxes

Before half term, the children of Warthill took part in a charity run project, creating Christmas boxes for families in Romania. We were overwhelmed by the donation of items we received and the children spent an afternoon carefully preparing the boxes. They put a lot of thought into which items they put in to make sure there was something for all members of the family to enjoy.

Cave Painting

Juniors built their own caves and had go at painting the walls of their caves; just as the early humans would have done. We learnt about why Stone Age people created cave paintings and what these paintings tell us about life back then.

Outdoor Education

Concluding the Stone Age to Bronze Age topic, juniors worked in teams to create their own shelters just as the nomadic early humans would have.
